It is time to settle this case.

The settlement agreement is very harsh on Microsoft, the company that has been THE major driver of the economic and technological boom of the 90's. By creating a standard Operating System for all personal computers Microsoft has been instrumental in making computers affordable and easy to use. THE CLEAR WINNER HAS BEEN THE CONSUMER.

Microsoft's jealous competitors started this lawsuit because they could not compete with the greatest American company on a fair business basis, even though their business practices have been just as aggressive.

We consumers do not want to turn the clock back to a multitude of incompatible Operating Systems that only work on certain manufacturers computers and raise the cost of application software. We want to be free to choose.
